- Truebeck Construction has completed most of the site grading, and its subcontractor, Condon Johnson, is now installing the underground ground-improvement system that will support the building foundation. This work will continue through the first week of September.
- Truebeck continues to coordinate pre-construction activities with its trade partners and order long-lead construction materials to support the upcoming phases of construction.
- The project team is also coordinating with PG&E on the undergrounding of existing overhead power and utility lines in front of the future fire station.
