FACILITY INSPECTION TEAM: Commissioner Whitney Geneviro & Commissioner Celina Chen

PRESIDING JUVENILE COURT JUDGE: Hon. Susan M. Jakubowski

FACILITY OVERVIEW

Canyon Oaks Youth Center (COYC) opened in August 2003 as a Level 14 group home. To comply with the policy changes of AB403 (Continuum of Care Reform, 2015), COYC converted to a Short Term Residential Treatment Program (STRTP) facility, receiving their permanent STRTP license on June 1, 2019. COYC is a co-ed facility with 12 beds, located at the Cordilleras site in Redwood City, and operated by the Behavioral Health and Recovery Services (BHRS) Division of San Mateo County Health. The program serves seriously mentally ill and emotionally disturbed boys and girls, ages 12-18. Serving as an alternative to psychiatric hospitalization for youth in crisis, the program’s “crisis beds” are used to stabilize out-of-control, dangerous behaviors so that youth can be returned to the community as quickly as possible.

The program also serves the most challenging youth that require out-of-home treatment for a longer period of time. Intensive individualized services are provided to these youth, engaging families as working partners in the treatment process. Youth in COYC can also be AB12 youth (extended foster care). The program is designed to work closely with all levels of service providers within BHRS and the referring agencies of Children and Family Services, Juvenile Probation, and local School Districts to provide effective and well-integrated services.

Before placement, residents are certified by the County’s Interagency Placement Review Committee as youth who require residential treatment services at an STRTP that provides intensive mental health services. The objective of the program is to help youth reduce symptoms, gain stability, and transition into the least restrictive setting in which they can succeed. The typical resident spends approximately one year at this facility.

Canyon Oaks Youth Center is guided by a program philosophy that provides placement for youth who face serious emotional and behavioral challenges: they strive to ensure that youth are not discharged as a result of their prior or current challenging behaviors. This is referred to as a ‘no eject, no reject’ philosophy. If the treatment team is unable to meet a youth’s needs safely or adequately, a treatment plan is made for the youth to be transferred to a facility that can better meet their needs. A plan is made for a youth to return to COYC once they have been stabilized. The ultimate goal is always to return the youth, in the least amount of time possible, to the least restrictive setting in which they can succeed.

The facility currently accepts youth within San Mateo County, and are on contract to take two youth from Santa Clara County, which are formed by their respective school districts.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Canyon Oaks Youth Center provides a residential treatment environment that supports the therapeutic, educational, and developmental needs of youth. Youth may reside at the facility for approximately six months, with extended stays determined by individual needs and IEPs. The facility offers a variety of supportive services, including individual therapy, daily group counseling, art therapy, and occupational therapy. Therapeutic services are integrated into the youths' daily routines and educational programming, providing consistent opportunities for personal growth and skill development. Youth are encouraged to express themselves by decorating their bedrooms and shared living spaces, helping create a more personalized and comfortable environment.

The facility also promotes independence and positive behavior by allowing youth to participate in meal preparation, request personal items for purchase, and earn points for positive behavior that can be redeemed for items from an on-site store. Scheduled visitation opportunities further support continued connections with family and other approved visitors. Overall, Canyon Oaks Youth Center demonstrates a commitment to providing a structured, supportive residential environment that emphasizes therapeutic care, personal development, and positive reinforcement.

At the time of this inspection, no court-ordered youth were residing at the facility. As a result, the inspection team was unable to conduct youth interviews as part of this inspection.

CONCERNS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

There were no concerns or recommendations identified during this inspection. The program demonstrates a thoughtful and comprehensive approach to supporting the individual needs, well-being, and personal development of youth in its care.

Target Population of Youth

The Mental Health Services at COYC serve emotionally disturbed youth aged 12-18 years old (up to 19 years old if Non-Dependent Minor) who are in residence at the COYYOC, Short Term Residential Treatment Program. Youth are referred to COYC by Juvenile Probation, Children and Family Services of San Mateo County, and by school districts throughout San Mateo County per the IEP process. Placement is paid for by the referring school district. Each youth served will have been certified by the County's IPRC (Interagency Placement Review Committee) as requiring residential treatment services at an STRTP facility providing intensive mental health services.

Canyon Oaks takes youth whose challenges are appropriate for the type of therapy they provide, which is dialectical behavior therapy. For example, they do not take on youth with intellectual disabilities. Youth need to have at least a 5th grade level reading ability. All of the youth currently in residence were referred by school districts and their exit will be determined by an IEP team meeting or by a parent or guardian. One youth in residence is on informal probation, referred by a social worker

YOUTH DISCIPLINE

Describe the discipline process of youth: COYC utilizes a phase system which is detailed in the Resident Handbook. Each phase has a set of criteria that measures the client's engagement in treatment. There is also a Color System, also explained in the Handbook, which sets out behaviors and corresponding program expectations/limitations as consequences. The Handbook also sets out specific disciplinary procedures along with the therapeutic interventions, and limit-setting techniques employed by staff. A list of strategies and techniques developed to aid staff in planning interventions is also detailed in the Handbook.

Grievance Process: ☒ Acceptable ☐ Unacceptable:

The San Mateo County BHRS grievance process is set out in the Resident Handbook. Upon admission to COYC, all youth and their parents/caregivers or authorized representatives are given written information about the grievance processes. Staff reviews the written material with them and a copy of the State-mandated Clients Rights is visibly posted in the lobby area, with contact information for BHRS - Office of Consumer Affairs (OCA) and Community Care Licensing (CCL). BHRS Problem Resolution Request Forms are also openly available in the lobby area. Youth, caregivers, or authorized representatives may file grievances with BHRS-OCA, or they may report them directly to the Head of Service or Supervisor for Direct Care. Any grievances received in person or by telephone that are resolved by close of business the next day following receipt are exempt from the requirement to send a written acknowledgement and resolution letter, however they still are logged and included in reports to the Department of Health Care Services (DHCS). If the youth is not satisfied, they can report their grievance to the Office of Consumer Affairs and OCA will investigate. Youth can also call Community Care Licensing at any time. In addition to grievances filed, OCA also sends out a satisfaction survey to youth and their families twice a year.

Review of Grievances: The number of grievances for this inspection cycle is unknown. The inspection team was unable to review them due restrictions placed on access to youth records.

Describe incident reports: We were unable to review incident reports because of restrictions on access to youth records described above.

Describe interactions with law enforcement: We were not able to access the details, but were informed by the Director that there were contacts with law enforcement in the past year, as is typical at Canyon Oaks and required by law for reporting of 5150s (risk of harm to self or others) and runaway youth (it is not a locked facility; youth under 18 years of age who leave without consent are considered runaway and missing persons reports are filed).

FACILITY PHONE NUMBER: 650-312-8970

REPORT PERIOD: July 1, 2025 - June 30, 2026

DATE OF REPORT: October 20, 2026

DATE OF LAST FACILITY STATUS REPORT: December 16, 2025

DATE OF LAST PHYSICAL INSPECTION: August 6, 2024

BACKGROUND

The Margaret J. Kemp Camp G.I.R.L.S. program, a 30-bed girls' residential facility at 400 Paul Scannell Drive in San Mateo, was launched by the Probation Department in 2001 as a gender-responsive alternative to incarceration in juvenile hall. It incorporated restorative justice practices and structured programming to support treatment, accountability, and community reintegration for girls. The facility ceased operations on October 23, 2023, and has remained vacant.

FACILITY STATUS

On July 16, 2025, the Civil Grand Jury released Vacant, Valuable, and Vulnerable: Reimagining San Mateo County's Youth Services Facilities [1], documenting millions of dollars spent on largely empty youth facilities. The Grand Jury found that the County spent $23.7 million operating its youth facilities in FY 2023–24, a net County cost of $12.7 million, with the net cost projected to climb to $17.6 million the following year. It also found that young adults ages 18 to 25 who commit crimes after their 18th birthday are held in the adult jail, where they lack the age-specific rehabilitative services available at the Youth Services Center. The Grand Jury recommended that the Board of Supervisors commission a comprehensive master plan for its youth facilities by January 1, 2026. It also recommended that the Sheriff study expanding services for young adults in custody.

On October 7, 2025, the Board of Supervisors approved, on its consent agenda, the County’s response to the Grand Jury’s findings and recommendations. The County partially disagreed with the finding on underused facilities. It conceded that the Youth Services Center and Camp Kemp were underutilized, and stated that County Health and Probation were “collaborating to create” a Youth Crisis Healing Campus at Kemp. The County also disputed the finding on young adults in the jail, asserting that jail services, while “not identical,” are “comparable” to those at the Youth Services Center. The County rejected the master plan recommendation as “not warranted,” offering instead a “targeted” study limited to unused space in the juvenile hall. It deferred the Sheriff’s feasibility study as requiring “further analysis.” [2]

On October 21, 2025, the Board approved Resolution File #25-907, authorizing Behavioral Health and Recovery Services (BHRS) to apply for Proposition 1 bond funds through the state’s Behavioral Health Continuum Infrastructure Program to convert Kemp into a Youth Crisis Healing Campus [3]. Under the plan, Canyon Oaks Youth Center would move to the Kemp site, and its license would be expanded to add four unlocked crisis residential beds. BHRS would also seek a new license for a psychiatric residential treatment facility of six or more beds. The project was estimated at about $25 million. The County’s required $2.5 million match would be met by the appraised value of the property, and about $250,000 in relocation costs would be paid from Mental Health Services Act and realignment funds.

At the November 18, 2025, joint monthly meeting of the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Commissions, Chief Probation Officer John Keene described the project as a Healing Campus offering inpatient and outpatient mental health and short-term therapeutic services to youth under 18, with parts of the facility operating as a licensed short-term residential therapeutic program similar to Canyon Oaks Youth Center. He noted that the County had access to only one floor of the adult mental health facility, which he described as inadequate.

On March 11, 2026, the State of California announced its behavioral health bond awards, which totaled $1.18 billion for 66 projects statewide. The proposed Youth Crisis Healing Campus was not funded [4].

As of June 30, 2026, Camp Kemp remained vacant. Following the State’s decision not to fund the Youth Crisis Healing Campus, no alternative plan for the facility has been made public.

PRIOR RECOMMENDATIONS

The last physical inspection of this facility was conducted on August 6, 2024. Following that inspection, the Juvenile Justice Commission issued formal recommendations for repurposing the facility.

In developing its recommendations, the Commission considered three primary factors:

- The current unmet needs of system-impacted and vulnerable youth in San Mateo County.
- The location, layout, and existing amenities of the Camp Kemp facility.
- The speed and cost-effectiveness with which the site could be repurposed to benefit youth.

Based on these criteria, the Commission continues to recommend that the facility be repurposed for one of the following uses:

- Least Restrictive Program: Secure Youth Treatment Facility (SYTF)
San Mateo County does not currently have a designated Least Restrictive Program (LRP) for youth transitioning from the County's SYTF. According to the Office of Youth and Community Restoration (OYCR), LRPs fill a critical gap in traditional youth justice approaches, which typically lack intermediate options between secure confinement and full community release. Research shows that gradual, supported transitions back to the community, based on individualized needs, produce better outcomes for youth and improve public safety [5] [6].
- Inpatient Substance Use Treatment Program for Youth. San Mateo County does not have a single inpatient substance use treatment bed for youth [7]. This critical gap has persisted despite the ongoing opioid epidemic, and the need for youth-specific treatment remains urgent.
- Transitional Housing for Unhoused Transition-Aged Youth (TAY). With the closure of Star-Vista's Daybreak program in 2025 [8], the County lost its only emergency housing option dedicated exclusively to youth. The number of unhoused youth in the county continues to grow, many report sleeping in cars, parks, abandoned buildings or on the streets. A transitional housing program at Camp Kemp would provide these youth with immediate, safe, and stable housing.

CAMP GLENWOOD
2025–2026

FACILITY NAME: Camp Glenwood

FACILITY TYPE: Camp

CAPACITY: 40 (10 per section)

FACILITY ADDRESS: 400 Log Cabin Ranch Road La Honda, CA. 94020

REPORT PERIOD: July 1, 2025 - June 30, 2026

DATE OF REPORT: October 19, 2026

DATE OF LAST PHYSICAL INSPECTION: May 11, 2018

FACILITY CLOSURE

Camp Glenwood ceased operations in 2018 and was officially closed on March 19, 2019.

BACKGROUND

Camp Glenwood opened in 1961 and served justice involved male youth for 58 years. For decades it operated as a cornerstone of San Mateo County’s rehabilitative programming for youth. The Camp Glenwood property is owned by San Mateo County and includes a 25,922 square foot youth facility on approximately 60 acres in an unincorporated rural area of the county. The property is identified as Assessor’s Parcel Number 083-280-020. Camp Glenwood has not served justice involved youth since it’s closure.

CAL FIRE LEASE

In the 2022–2023 Governor’s Budget [2], the State of California authorized the establishment of the Glenwood Fire Center, a new CAL FIRE facility intended to strengthen wildfire prevention and emergency response capacity in the region.

JUVENILE JUSTICE COMMISSION
ANNUAL FACILITY REPORT
JUVENILE HALLS AND CAMPS

The property includes a 25,922-square-foot facility on a 60-acre parcel (Assessor's Parcel Number 083-280-020) [1][2]. The State of California 2022–23 budget authorized a new CAL FIRE facility at the site, the Glenwood Fire Center, to house two State-funded hand crews.

On June 10, 2025, the Board of Supervisors adopted Resolution No. 081231 by a 4–0 vote, with Supervisor Corzo absent [1]. The resolution authorized Board President David Canepa to execute a lease with the State of California, acting through the Department of General Services, for CAL FIRE's use of the site. It also authorized the County Executive to handle all notices, extensions, amendments, and termination of the lease without further Board action.

The current lease runs from August 1, 2025, through July 31, 2027, at a monthly rent of $24,999 [1][3]. It gives CAL FIRE exclusive, 24-hour use of the administration building, mess hall, classroom, shop, dormitory and recreation buildings. The State may terminate the lease on 30 days' notice at any time after August 31, 2025, and the lease automatically continues month to month if CAL FIRE remains after it expires. The County Executive's memo to the Board stated that the lease would bring in approximately $300,000 a year. That revenue would first offset the County's costs as property owner, with any remainder reserved for future use; none of it was designated for youth services.

On July 16, 2025, the Civil Grand Jury released Vacant, Valuable, and Vulnerable: Reimagining San Mateo County's Youth Services Facilities [4]. The report stated that negotiations with CAL FIRE were still ongoing, although the Board had approved the lease the previous month. The report noted that converting Glenwood into transitional housing for youth had been discussed but had not advanced beyond informal discussion. It recommended that the Board commission a Master Plan for Youth Facility Utilization by January 1, 2026.

On September 17, 2025, CAL FIRE Assistant Chief Brent Norwine updated the County's Emergency Services Council on the project [5][6]. He described it as a partnership to transform the aging Glenwood Boys Ranch into a modern facility for CAL FIRE hand crews. CAL FIRE had funding for two peak fire seasons, covering 80 seasonal firefighters, 6 engineers, a Battalion Chief and a Division Chief, with about 40 personnel on duty daily. Move-in was targeted for November 1, after drainage issues caused a one-month delay. Norwine also cited water restrictions in County Service Area No. 7 as a limiting factor. The hand crews reportedly moved into the Glenwood Fire Center in late October 2025.

On May 6, 2026, CAL FIRE announced that the two crews were fully staffed, with more than 100 personnel operating seven days a week [7]. CAL FIRE described the center as the first hand crew station in San Mateo and Santa Cruz counties.

The current lease with CAL FIRE expires on July 31, 2027.

IMPACT ON YOUTH

The closure of Camp Glenwood eliminated a critical component of San Mateo County’s continuum of care for justice-involved male youth. As the County’s only least-restrictive placement, Camp Glenwood provided a structured, supervised, and therapeutic setting for male youth whose needs could be addressed without secure confinement. Since the program ceased operations in 2018, the County has lacked a comparable local rehabilitative placement for male youth, leaving juvenile hall and the Secure Youth Treatment Facility as its available custodial settings.

The lack of a non-secure, community-based alternative limits the County’s ability to provide developmentally appropriate rehabilitation, behavioral health treatment, and transitional services for male youth who do not require incarceration. Research has consistently raised concerns about the consequences of youth confinement, including its limited effectiveness in reducing reoffending and its potential to disrupt education, compound trauma, and interfere with healthy adolescent development. [8, 9]

The significance of Camp Glenwood’s closure extends beyond the loss of a physical facility. It represents the elimination of a dedicated rehabilitative environment where male youth could receive therapeutic support, develop accountability, and prepare for a safe and successful return to their communities. Without a comparable program, a substantial gap remains in San Mateo County’s continuum of care, particularly for justice-involved male youth who could benefit from rehabilitation in a less restrictive setting.

RE: JJC 2025 Letter

Please find a list of all law enforcement agency facilities within the State of California that reported in the 2025 calendar year that they may hold minors in secure detention.

PLEASE NOTE: This list is prepared annually by OYCR's compliance monitoring team as part of their responsibility pursuant to Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974, as amended (34 U.S.C. 11101 et seq.) The list does NOT include facilities in your county that do NOT hold minors in secure detention; OYCR does not inspect those facilities.

OYCR does not have statutory authority to mandate that Judges or Juvenile Justice Commissioners conduct facility inspections, but we are ready to provide technical assistance and support. If there are facilities you believe should or should not be on the list, you are welcome to contact us for any technical assistance, but we will not add them to the list if they do NOT hold minors in secure detention. As always, we would like you to please reach out directly to your local county law enforcement agency for clarification as well.

This list and related documents are also available on OYCR's website at: Minors in Detention - OYCR. Should you or your staff have any questions regarding the detention of minors in jails and lockups for adults, please contact our Compliance Monitor Team at OYCRCompliance.Monitor@chhs.ca.gov or (916) 651-0423.

Juvenile Justice Commission

Susan I. Etezadi Award

About the Award

The Honorable Susan I. Etezadi served the people of San Mateo County for more than 40 years, first as a Deputy District Attorney and then as a Superior Court Judge. Her greatest legacy was built in the Juvenile Court, where she served as Presiding Judge for 13 years and championed the county's most vulnerable children and youth. On the bench, she followed the law with precision while never losing sight of the humanity, dignity, and potential of each child who came before her. She held every system to its highest purpose. Beyond the courtroom, she trained CASA volunteers, oversaw the Civil Grand Jury and the San Mateo County Juvenile Justice Commission.

Upon her retirement in 2026, the Commission established this award to honor Judge Etezadi and the profound difference she made in the lives of children, families, and an entire community. More than a tribute to her extraordinary life of service, the Susan I. Etezadi Award will celebrate those who follow in her footsteps, carrying forward the compassion, courage, and unwavering belief in every child's worth and potential that made her so exceptional. Beginning in 2027, the award will be presented annually at the Prevention in Action Conference.

Carrying Her Legacy Forward

Judge Susan I. Etezadi's legacy is woven into the lives of generations of children and families in San Mateo County. Today, that legacy lives on through those who are honored in her name.

The award also recognizes the invaluable contributions of those who serve quietly and without recognition, including volunteers, grassroots leaders, and individuals who use their lived experiences to help others overcome challenges and find their way forward.

Examples include:

- Legal: judges, attorneys, and law enforcement
- Lived experience: people impacted by the juvenile justice or foster care systems who use their experience and knowledge to help others.
- Education: educators, principals, academic counselors, and board members
- Community: mentors, coaches, religious leaders, and resource families (foster parents)

- Advocates: CASA volunteers, caseworkers, and youth justice organizations
- Unsung Heroes: Individuals who serve as a safety net to vulnerable children and youth, ensuring they are heard, protected, and have what they need to succeed.

Award Selection Criteria

The Award Subcommittee recognizes that meaningful contributions take many forms. The following criteria will help guide the selection process, and nominees are not expected to meet every one.

- Systemic Improvements: Contributions that have influenced policies, improved practices, strengthened programs, or addressed systemic barriers that negatively affect children and youth.
- Tangible accomplishments that have made a meaningful difference in the lives of children and youth.
- Breaking Cycles: Helping children and families break intergenerational cycles of trauma, poverty, and involvement in the juvenile justice, criminal justice, and child welfare systems.
- Protecting the Most Vulnerable: Work that brings attention, compassion, and provides meaningful support to children and youth whose needs might otherwise go unmet.
