Testing is available for all ages, including young children and infants. All test sites utilize the method of swabbing the front part of the nose. People who are vaccinated or unvaccinated should get tested if they have symptoms of COVID-19. Unvaccinated persons should get tested if they have had close contact with someone with COVID-19 or have concerns about being infected or exposed. Appointments are encouraged, but walk-up on-site registration is available up to one hour before closing. In addition to the sites listed above, testing is also available from health care providers and other community sites. See smcgov.org/testing for more information.
